The speech of Capt. T. A. Blair last night to the colored people has received many favorable comments.
He advised them not to array themselves against the white people of this country who were their best friends and not to vote as a race but as independent citizens and for the best men.

We call attention to the fact that Mr. Edward Toby's, jr. class in bookkeeping will begin next Tuesday, and he requests that all pupils will be at class room promptly at 8 p. m. He still has room for several more pupils and we would advise those who desire to become members of this class to apply at once. His rates are extremely moderate, being only $32.50 for course complete including books.

We call particular attention to the advertisement on our first page of Mr.
W. E. Dupree. His house has the largest stock of wagons and agricultural implements of any house in Central Texas, and he can sell at such prices and on such terms as few dealers can meet. Parties will save money by calling on him. His cellars and store rooms are packed full of goods of all sorts and makes and he is there to sell and will sell to every one who calls. He pays no rent, has sole control and leads the trade in all respects.

BALL AND CUE.

THE AMUSEMENT THAT WACO EAGERLY WAITS FOR.

The New Provident Billiard Parlor to be Opened Tonight—Fine Cushions, New Cloth, Polished Cues and Imported Ivory Balls.

One of the grand events of the week and one of the most pleasing to the amusement loving public is the opening of a first-class, high toned and elegant billiard parlor in one of the most elegant buildings in the city.
The opening of the grand Provident Billiard Parlor which takes place tonight at 6:30 will be hailed with gratification by all as a thing long needed and anxiously waited for in Waco and Mr. W. C. Kellum, the proprietor of the new billiard parlors deserves a vote of thanks from the public for having provided an elegant resort equal to the best in the state and without regard to expense. The new billiard parlors are in that most elegant of all Waco's edifices the Provident building in the grand basement rooms facing on Fourth street accessible to any and every one. The grand, commodious and handsome apartments to be devoted to the ball and cue are the finest apartments in the fine Provident building. They are large airy and well appointed and the new parlors will be a thing of beauty. The billiard tables six in number are in the highest style of art by the greatest makers and are said to be unsurpassed in the state. The lighting is simply gorgeous each table being supplied with a grouping of incandescent lights which will make the parlors as light as a sunny day, at night, while the splendid ventilation is unsurpassed in the city.
The furniture and appointments are all elegant, and in every respect such as will woo the amusement loving public to hours of innocent recreation. Waco has long needed such a resort, but it also needs a firm lone. The city is in a transition state in which the caterers to public amusements must anticipate metropolitan airs. This the proprietor of the new billiard parlors has done. They are in keeping with the development of elegance and taste and will be of immense benefit to the city as an advertisement before the thousands of travelers and drummers, that Waco is abreast of the other Texas cities. In this respect the proprietor of the Provident Billiard parlors is a public benefactor.

The management of this elegant establishment will be conducted by Mr. Geo. Renick, which is a sufficient guarantee that all polite attentions possible will be paid to patrons and no pains spared to make them comfortable. They should have a grand turn out tonight.

The German-American Citizen's club will meet at their hall, corner of Third street and plaza Monday.
Every German speaking citizen is invited to be present.

Welcome back.

Mr. R. B. Hays, the owner of considerable property in Waco, was many years ago well and favorably known to all of the citizens. For many years past he has, being a comparative stranger in the city, having been engaged in the postal service and a resident of other Texas cities. Mr. Hays has returned to Waco for good and will add to the growing prosperity of the city by improving his Waco property. He will at once erect a large building on Second and Franklin streets, which will be another fine addition to this now popular street. In the name of all citizens of Waco, including the babies, THE NEWS bids Mr. Hays welcome back to Waco.

Blood Red Front.

The streets were made lively yesterday by the minstrel parade and more lively today by a fine band of music in a dress parade flanked by youths carrying mottoes glorifying the Blood Red Fronts clothing and gent's furnishing store No. 315 Austin street. While in front of the store all day long the band discoursed sweet music to big crowds. It was quite a Saturday event and the music was a treat to over 5,000 people. The Blood Red Front store has been in the city for nearly two years and in that time has built up a very large patronage. Few people have an idea of the immense stock carried by this popular store. It is one of the largest in the city and it is an unusually fine one from the plainest goods to the finest. Mr. Alexander F. Girard, the proprietor, is a thorough business man; he has no partners and runs business in a way to make a permanent customer of every one who drops in to buy; with good goods, extremely reasonable prices and suave manners. The Blood Red Front is making its big mark in the trade of Waco.
